The End

It's been an amazing journey!!!

I’m very excited and pleased with all the research and development that has been put into these roleplaying projects. It wasn’t easy but the results are a spectacle. I had a tremendous amount of fun creating my guides and I truly hope you do two. There’s just something truly amazing when people come together and try out different approaches to your favorite games.

Imagine creating something so well written that it just flows perfectly with your roleplay, like if the game was tailored to you…. Remember, nothing is perfect and sometimes technology can be a pain in the ass. However, as time gets better so does technology and the way we do things. Today there are guides, tomorrow there could be something even more spectacular to marvel….
